

“This is my first visit to the museum and I looked at all the pictures inside. It’s pretty impressive. And I saw [Carol Burnett] in her first USO show. She was the kind of gal that represented the millions of girls that guys left behind to go fight. Now I see her every once in a while. She’s still pretty good-looking, I’ll tell you.”

General Chuck Yeager

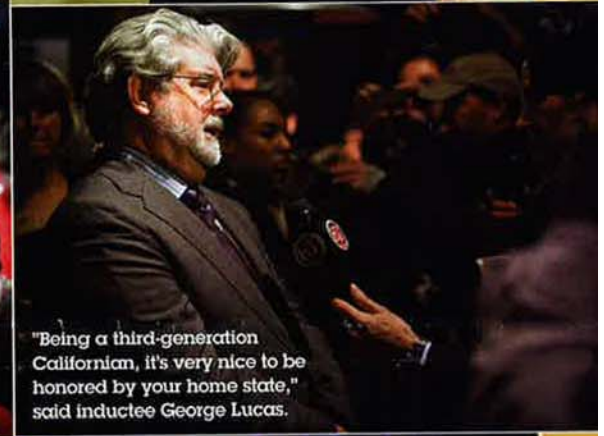

Carol Burnett entertains the crowd outside the California Museum.

Inductee John Madden with First Lady Maria Shriver

Romance novelist Danielle Steel on the red carpet

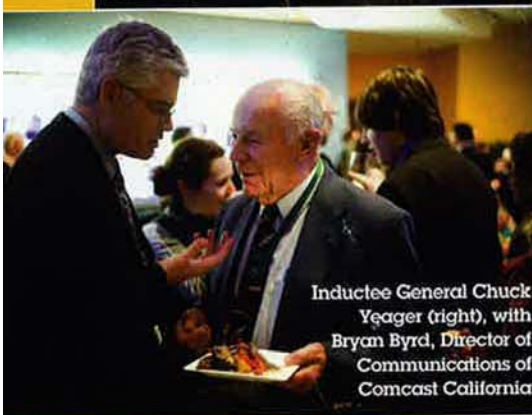

“Being a third-generation Californian, it’s very nice to be honored by your home state,” said inductee George Lucas.

“I’m always inspired by evenings like this. I love it,” said Olympic gold medalist and inductee Rafer Johnson (with Shriver).

Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger, with (from left) General Chuck Yeager, John Madden, Carlyn Kaiser Stark (granddaughter of inductee Henry Kaiser) & Danielle Steel

Inductee General Chuck Yeager (right), with Bryan Byrd, Director of Communications of Comcast California

California Dreaming

The stars align in downtown Sacramento as innovators and pioneers like George Lucas and Carol Burnett join the fourth class of the California Hall of Fame