

BRIAN BAER bbaer@sacbee.com

Roger Vincent of Santa Rosa, outfitted as President Abraham Lincoln, waits with his "guards" to talk to schoolchildren inside the California Museum on Thursday. The event coincided with the 200th anniversary of Lincoln's birth in Kentucky. From June 24 through Aug. 22, the downtown museum will host "With Malice Toward None: The Abraham Lincoln Bicentennial Exhibition," which opened at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., last week in honor of the nation's 16th president.

» ONLINE

- See the best photographs and multimedia of the day from photographers at The Bee, around the nation and the world. sacbee.com/pictures
- For The Frame, a photo blog by The Bee, please go to sacbee.com/blogs